

Anthony Mongeluzo Biography

Anthony Mongeluzo is a serial entrepreneur, computer expert and CEO/President of PCS. In 2000, at the age of 20 and with no outside capital, he founded Pro Computer Service (PCS) in his parents' home.

Today, PCS (www.helpmepcs.com) is a 175-person firm with offices in six states (New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland and Virginia) and clients throughout the United States. Local and national media have consistently rated PCS as one of the fastest-growing firms in the country. Anthony is also the founder or a partner in eight other companies, three of which are in the IT sector that provides cybersecurity, computer forensic and web services. He cruises to meetings daily in the Tech Tank, a one-of-a-kind mobile office.

Anthony is FOX-TV's IT expert in Philadelphia. National, regional and local media frequently call upon him for his expertise and opinion on IT and small-business issues. These media outlets include The Wall Street Journal, The Associated Press, Fox & Friends, On the Record with FOX NEWS, ABC, NBC, MSN, MSNBC, CNBC and the Philadelphia Business Journal.

When he's not expanding his businesses, Anthony devotes time to his three passions. The first is helping fledgling entrepreneurs become more successful. His second passion is promoting the unusual perspective that a company's IT network should serve as a strategic focal point for growth and not viewed simply as a cost center. Finally, he enjoys serving his community by volunteering on numerous nonprofit boards and committees.
