

Biography Nakisha “Nikki” Griffin

Nakisha “Nikki” Griffin is a strategic human resources leader with over fourteen years of experience. She is particularly passionate about organizational effectiveness and strategic human resources business partnering. Nikki’s ability to see things from the vantage point of employees and business owners has given her an exceptional career advantage. Currently she is the Senior Director and Head of Human Resources for Neustar Security Services, a global cybersecurity firm. Nikki holds the Senior Human Resources Professional (SPHR), SHRM Senior Certified Professional (SHRM-SCP) and Associate Certified Coach (ACC) certifications. She attended Kean University and received her Bachelor of Science in Management and the University of Connecticut, graduating with a Master of Professional Studies in Human Resource Management. She is currently a student at the University of Illinois studying for her Doctorate in Human Resources Development. Nikki is an official contributing member of the Forbes Human Resources Council. She is also the Vice President of Programs for the Dulles Society of Human Resource Management Chapter.